

Bradenton Carpet Cleaner Busts Carpet Cleaning Myths

May 24, 2017

May 24, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

There was a time when truck-mounted cleaning systems were reigning the world of carpet cleaning. During the 1980s, portable carpet cleaners were severely underpowered and led to increased moisture absorption inside the carpet without the requisite cleaning. But as time passed, portable cleaner manufacturers started providing scrubbers in these machines to help loosen the soil.

Though it was an improvement, still these machines couldn't compete with powerful truck-mounted systems due to lack of water pressure. During the 1990s, portable machines started having internal heating elements and water pressures were significantly improved.

Nowadays, portable systems offer water pressure in excess of 500 psi, enabling competition with large truck-mounted systems. On the other hand, truck-mounted systems have several shortcomings due to their noisy operation and reliance on long water hoses.

Usually only first-floor properties can benefit from them. Truck-mounted units burn gas and are never environment-friendly. Bradenton Carpet Cleaners always uses the best equipment and are pleased to demonstrate their state-of-the-art cleaning operation.

Bradenton Carpet Cleaners busting cleaning myths with modern high-powered Portable carpet cleaning machines which rival the performance of old-style truck mounted cleaning systems, without burning fossil fuels. Bradenton Carpet Cleaners make efficient use of portable machines for better cleaning and customer satisfaction.
