The Shockwave Air Horn From Screaming Banshee Now Ships For Free From Amazon

May 26, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

PrimeEffects announced that the Shockwave air horn for motorcycles and scooters now ships for free when ordered from their listing on Amazon.

"I appreciate that offering our product through Amazon gives us the capability of providing more perks to our customers," states Phillip Jepsen, the CEO of Prime Effects. "Free shipping is one of those perks. By eliminating this cost, the horn becomes more affordable. Then more people can benefit from the increased safety provided by the air horn."

The Shockwave air horn was designed specifically with motorcycles and scooters in mind. But it will work for most any kind of vehicle, including boats, tractors, trucks and ATVs. It is compact enough to fit in most any available space, and can be connected as either a secondary horn or as a stand-alone unit. When wired into the existing horn system, short taps of the horn activate the factory horn system. A prolonged press of the horn activates the blasting sound. The Shockwave can also be set to flash the high beams when activated, adding a visual cue to the warning. This warning consists of a high-pitched, two-tone sound that is rated at 130 decibels and above.

The Shockwave is available on Amazon, as well as through PrimeEffects and other outlets. The air horn comes with all needed mounting and wiring hardware and a complete installation PDF document with links to an installation video. Questions can be directed to either the PrimeEffects web site, or Screaming Banshee.
