

Wedding Catering Business Re-brands To Premierflavour

June 05, 2017

June 05, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Justpremier, an expert in Asian catering operating out of Hounslow, London, United Kingdom, has recently changed its name to Premierflavour. This re-branding has been designed to highlight the emphasis on the food provided and that the focus is on quality over quantity. The name change has already been reflected in their website, which is now www.premierflavour.com.

A representative for Premierflavour says: "Our vision is simple: help you create the wedding experience you deserve and assist you with amazing services for any occasion, taste and need. We felt that the name Justpremier did not reflect this vision properly, and have therefore made the executive decision to switch to a more relevant company name."

The company mostly caters to weddings, and it aims to ensure that each wedding is as special as it can be. In line with this, they provide each of their clients with their own dedicated event manager. This manager focuses only on a single event on a particular day. As a result each wedding party knows that they have the full attention they deserve. To give people a feeling for the food that they can expect and that has been provided to others, they are encouraged to visit the company's Instagram page on www.instagram.com/premierflavour, where photographs of some of the wedding catering services the company has provided can be found.

The company is keen to inform its clients that all that has changed is their name, and that the standards that they have become known for have been left unchanged. Indeed, these standards have set the company apart as a leading wedding caterer with a focus on Asian cuisine. "What a fantastic menu provided," says one client on the new company website. "Also, the staff were absolutely brilliant. I remember the afternoon where you said 'Pankej, don't worry I'm here.' The promise was kept to the end. In fact at the end we had to ask our guests to leave. No hesitation in recommending you, no one has passed a single negative comment for the evening."

Those interested are encouraged to explore the new website at their earliest convenience to discover the kind of catering services they can have.
