

SEO Expert Michael Taggart Moves Tech Startups To New Ventures Lab

June 18, 2015

June 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Adventure Marketing is proud to announce that SEO expert Michael Taggart is moving to the New Ventures Lab in Meridian. He is doing this for his two start up companies, Landmark Technologies LLC, and Infinite Markets LLC. He hopes this move will further increase his success since New Ventures focuses on building successful startup companies, and for other startups in the building to draw upon his vast knowledge of SEO.

"Having been in the SEO world as a practitioner, teacher, and speaker on the subject, my goal has been to show people how to get faster results and more exposure in less time by doing things right", says Michael Taggart from Adventure Marketing. "I encourage any entrepreneur or start up business to contact me if they are concerned about their marketing or SEO efforts."

Taggart has a wealth of experience around SEO, marketing and helping start up companies make it big. Indeed, he has helped small start up companies become 7 figure businesses consistently thanks to his work. It is for good reason, therefore, that he is known in the industry as "the mastermind of SEO". One of his current focuses is to build up the Infinite Markets product "My Marketplace Builder" as a marketplace SaaS and he is seeing a great amount of success with this.

New Ventures Lab is a platform where ideas can be turned into business. Essentially, it is a place for like minded people to get together and discuss potential business ideas with other entrepreneurs. Based in downtown Meridian, Idaho, the center itself is becoming increasingly popular with budding entrepreneurs who want to build networking connections and turn their ideas into a success.

"At New Ventures Lab, they connect ideas, people and resources", says Michael Taggart. "It is about imagination, envisioning that what does not yet exist. They also focus on creativity, using their imaginations creatively to address any challenge they encounter. It is also about innovation, thinking creatively and outside of the box in order to come up with truly unique solution. Finally, it is about entrepreneurship, making sure our innovation is applied so that solutions actually happen."

Through My Marketplace Builder, Taggart essentially demonstrates the Infinite Markets that exist around the world today. Through here, he offers a completely free report that reveals one of the biggest niche opportunities for new businesses to grow and expand. He believes that marketplaces will soon disrupt the way global commerce works and that this will affect multiple industries around the world, as they have already been proving over the last several years with the success of companies like AirBnB, AliBaba, and more. He believes his ideas and software will also completely change the way eCommerce works, and online businesses should be prepared.

Taggart expects a veritable marketplace gold rush to soon start. He wants to ensure others will have the opportunity to use this to their advantage. Indeed, through just 10 marketplaces, he expects billions, if not trillions, of dollars will be made and he wants to be a part of helping others build successful marketplace companies using his unique software.
