Peak One Builders & Restoration, a luxury home remodeling company in Scottsdale, AZ, is proud to announce that they have become an Energy Star Builder Partner. This means that they are now able to build Energy Star Certified Homes, providing peace of mind, enduring quality, wall-to-wall comfort, and proven value to homeowners. The company has been building and remodeling luxury homes in North Scottsdale, Paradise Valley, Carefree, Cave Creek, and Rio Verde, Arizona, since 2002.

"We are very proud to have been able to obtain Energy Star certification," says Michael Christensen from Peak One Builders & Restoration. "We are committed to offering our clients only the best in terms of their homes, and this has to include energy efficient & sustainable solutions. These solutions allow for a better sealed home leading to increased indoor air quality, improved construction quality & lower energy bills. We always look for ways to further improve our company and standards, which is why we aimed to obtain this certification in the first place."

Peak One Builders is a veteran owned home building and remodeling business that is U.S. Army certified, as well as a partner of Jared Allen's Homes 4 Wounded Warriors. As part of this, they help to construct homes that are accessible for those with disabilities sustained in combat. As part of this, they do not only construct new homes, but also remodel existing properties. And they now do so with Energy Star certification. People are encouraged to learn more about the company through their various channels.

Those who have worked with the company in the past have been very happy with the results. "I used Peak One for my kitchen remodel and they were awesome," says Rosemary M. on the company's Facebook page. "Not only did they deliver what they promised, they also did the job quickly and competently. The workers were knowledgeable, skilled and friendly. I felt comfortable having them in my home and can honestly say, they made the normal discomforts of remodeling very tolerable. I will call on Peak One for my next project."
