Just a few weeks after its launch, Scottish scented candles company, Solas Candles, is enjoying critical success on Amazon.

With more people gravitating towards scented candles, the market is becoming increasingly competitive by the day. However, with their unique Scottish theme, natural ingredients and pure fragrances, Solas Candles was poised to succeed from launch day.

The collection, which is available exclusively to Amazon customers in the United States, has found favor with several candle lovers and boasts a perfect five star rating.

One customer wrote: "I had never really liked candles before until I was exposed to well made ones. This natural soy one burns so well and evenly and the scent is awesome, it's very subtle and relaxing. I like to light it when it's quiet and I'm in my favorite chair reading a book. The bergamot and lime gives the room such a refreshing smell. I'm really happy with this purchase, and now I know what to give as the perfect hostess gift!"

The collection is available in three signature scents Beatha, Paisean and Fois. These scents are the embodiment of the Scottish culture and feature rich fragrances that are masterfully blended to enhance moods and create a wonderful atmosphere in the home.

But that's not all. These candles have grown in popularity partly due to their eco-friendly composition of soy and natural vegetable wax which is combined with intriguing fragrances such as lime, bergamot, white jasmine, blackberry and red currant. Even the wick is natural, made from a cotton hemp blend.
