

GSA Products Releases Their Best Digital Thermometer To The Public

June 24, 2015

June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Westfield, IN based company, GSA Products, LTD, has announced that their much anticipated new digital meat thermometer is now available through the company's Amazon.com sales portal for only $19.95. They are going so far as to call this device the best digital thermometer on the market in its class, and suggest that what makes it truly superior and unique to other products of its kind is the fast, easy to use, and ergonomic design of the tool. GSA Products, LTD has said the following in regards to the product and why everyone from home cooks to restaurant chefs will be raving:

"In only 4-5 SECONDS you will know the temperature of your meat cooking in the oven or on the grill. Helps Make Deliciously cooked and grilled meats every time! The less time it takes to read the temperature, the less heat that will escape. And, best of all this blue thermometer is accurate to within roughly 2 degrees Fahrenheit between a temperature range from -58 degrees Fahrenheit to +572 degrees Fahrenheit."

The device is powered by one AAA battery, and has a stainless steel sensor that can be folded down when not in use. When the sensor is folded down, the device automatically stops using energy. The company has explained that this means cooks don't need to worry about batteries being drained when the thermometer isn't being used; however, if the sensor is forgotten about, the thermometer will turn itself off after ten minutes of inactivity.

While the thermometer can provide a Fahrenheit and Celsius display, its default setting is Fahrenheit. It also has a large digital display for better reading and usage by consumers of all ages, and has been designed for comfortable handling, and ease of functionality, allowing cooks to check on chicken, beef, pork, fish, and a variety of other meats and seafood. When customers buy here now, they can rest assured that the materials used are CE and RoHS certified for use with food products. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"I currently own a Taylor thermometer... and this is what I am comparing the GSA Meat thermometer to...It is lightweight, but looks to be well made, and requires one AAA battery that is not included...first tested it in cold water against my already calibrated, and known to be accurate, Taylor thermometer. The first thing I noticed was how quickly this GSA product got a stable reading while the Taylor took a few seconds to get a stable reading....Moving over to the grill and my turkey burgers I was similarly impressed. This is where the GSA product really shines because when I am trying to cook a turkey burger without drying it out I want to know when it hits 165 degrees quickly so I can take them off the grill. This product allows me to do that better than the Taylor model...I got the reading significantly faster with the GSA thermometer. ...I really like the fact that it turns itself off when you close it..."

GSA Products, LTD is offering free shipping to Amazon Prime customers, and has encouraged all new customers to leave feedback on their account so that they can continue creating top quality customer service and products. They invite shoppers to visit their other available products, which can be found through the company's Amazon account. Interested parties can also view the company's products on their website, located at the following URL: <http://www.gsaproductsltd.com> Shoppers will be able to view a video of the product on their website's product page, and have the opportunity to connect with GSA Products via their social media links that are available on their site as well. They have said:

"Most important to us is that you receive exceptional customer service when you place your order today. So sign up now and when you do, consider buying two and give one to a friend and get ready for some delicious food!"

The device already holds a 5 star review based on current buyers of the latest thermometer released by the company, and they have invited all shoppers to read customer testimonials before buying, to see how well the thermometer has worked for others who have made the commitment to buy. This is meant to offer more support in the decision to choose this tool over what the company believes to be inferior products on the market.

###

For more information about GSA Products, LTD, contact the company here:GSA Products, LTDGerry
Abell317.696.2468gerry@gsaproductsltd.com17520 Dartown RoadSuite #286Westfield, IN. 46074

GSA Products, LTD

Website: <http://www.gsaproductsltd.com/>

Email: gerry@gsaproductsltd.com

Phone: 317.696.2468

Powered by PressAdvantage.com