Fisher Building Co., a home remodeling business in Mahopac, NY, has announced the launch of its new website. This website describes all of the various home remodeling services the company offers, while at the same time enabling people in the Mahopac area to request for a remodeling quote. The company provides a wide range of services particularly in all phases of home remodeling and general improvements, including interior painting, kitchen remodeling, tile installation, hardwood floor installation and refinishing, and full home remodeling.

Ian Fisher, owner and founder of Fisher Building Co., says: "Fisher Building Co. prides itself on its high quality remodeling and improvement services, and excellent customer service. We treat each client as a member of the family, ensuring that we aren't finished until they are completely satisfied."

Not only has the company launched a new website, but they have also engaged in a digital marketing campaign. Information is now available on their Google Maps page, which prospective customers can also use to determine whether their home location is within the Fisher Building Co home remodeling service area. The digital marketing campaign also ensures that homeowners can have direct communication with the company, particularly by using their Facebook page. This social media page enables people to read up on industry news, ask questions, leave reviews, and more.

"We love the community that is being created through our Facebook page," adds Fisher. "We have included a number of project photographs to give people a visual representation of the quality standards they can expect from us, and we love it when our clients do the same. We also use this page to share industry news, as well as list vacancies in the industry."

The home remodeling service provider is encouraging everyone to visit the new website and social media pages, such as the Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/FisherBuildingCo/, to find out more about the company and its services. With a clean and modern design, the website lists all relevant information, making it easier for prospective customers to see the services available. Fisher Building Co. is quickly becoming known as the go-to source for home remodeling services in the Mahopac, NY area.
