National Press Distributors have recently conducted a review of the country's most customer friendly junk removal companies. After going through several pages of actual customer reviews across different social media channels and crowd-sourcing review pages, National Press Distributors have found several junk removal companies as the leaders in the industry when it comes to efficiency and being customer-centric.

Servicing in all surrounding areas in Seattle, $99 Junk Removal (99junkremoval.com) provides the absolute customer service by having a fixed fee of $99 for labor no matter the amount of scrap that needs to be taken out. From quotation to billing, this business makes sure to be transparent to their customers at times and at all costs.

Louise J. said, "$99 Junk Removal is up front from the beginning. I called to have items removed, they arrived two hours after my call. They are great guys, did the work fast, but were still careful of the walls that were just painted. I will use them again, no doubt!"

One of the top rated junk removal services, Fred's Junk Removal specialized in household trash and junk removal. Easing the appointment setting and the payment settling are what this business boasts with regards to a customer-centric service.

"Very nice guy and fast service. Showed up on time and got the job done in only 5 minutes. Will definitely hire again!" said Courtney H. on Facebook.com.

Operating in California, Stars Hauling Junk Removal specializes in furniture disposal and construction cleanups.

John W. on Yelp said, "Found on Craig's List. Arrived when promised, did the work as agreed and at the right price. Nice guy to boot! I'd use them again in a heartbeat."

From furniture to renovation materials, Big Haul Junk Removal offers same day service and extended hours of operation to accommodate their loyal customers.

Mark L. on Yelp said, "[Big Haul Junk Removal is] Fast, efficient and friendly from dispatcher to drivers. We were present when they hauled our load. Happy with their service and would recommend to others as well as use big haul again!"

Recycling over 70% of what they haul from their customers makes Dump-It Junk Removal proud of being eco-friendly. They offer one of the cheapest professional junk removal services around the Seattle area.

"We reserved online and they showed up promptly. The price was beyond the estimate but they worked with us to get the most important things while still giving us a reasonable quote,? said Heather P. on Yelp.

These customer-centric junk removal services make sure to put their customers' satisfaction as their top priority. These businesses make sure to offer the best deals that guarantee that both parties will get the most benefits from one another. Staying transparent and efficient in their services, these junk removal companies are establishing themselves as leaders in their industry.
