Real estate is about understanding the nuances of this industry and optimizing it for long-term gains. It's a science and has to be learned in detail before a student can jump in. The National Press Distributors has conducted a research into the world's most customer-centric online continuing education companies. This extensive research settled on the top five best, most reliable and preferred companies in the United States. Through years of research and thousands of students, a list of top five online continuing education companies has been formulated to help. The decision of receiving one's education in real estate is a major one, and this list is going to help push things in the right direction.

Real estate education has become about the implementation of high-tech solutions along with comprehensive educational modules. Interact CE (interactce.com) provides a stable of resources and a complete solution for all real estate students. With access from any device (laptops, desktops, mobile devices), real-life scenarios, and immediate certification upon completion, Interact CE has become the "go-to" choice for students. It has produced countless professionals who are using these teachings to establish their careers in America. Interact CE is the gold standard for real estate education and is one of the finest online continuing education companies on offer.

Gary on interactce.com said, "By far the best way to get CE, better than any other online course I?ve taken."

Another real estate education company offered in 20 states and has become a household name among experts for its work. Kaplan is formed on the shoulders of a comprehensive catalog of endless resources. Students are provided with every advantage, and this bodes well for their future in real estate. Kaplan remains among the leaders in the US and has earned critical acclaim for its work in real estate. As an online continuing education company, Kaplan is well-rounded and does provide a plethora of advantages to its students on a yearly basis. While it remains a great company, it does charge higher fees to its students.

Chaille Chambless on Facebook said, "I took the Kaplan courses for my Texas real estate license. I felt the courses covered the material well and I was able to pass both sections my first try. Thanks, Kaplan!"

With a self-paced experience (six months maximum), students of Real Estate Express are provided with complete flexibility with their learning experience. Students can manage their work-life balance to a tee with the help of Real Estate Express while still learning the art of this industry. Real Estate Express is a honed option and one that has earned respect for the value it provides students. The resources are extensive, easy to access and provide countless advantages. Real Estate Express is a sound fit for real estate students wanting to learn the nuances of the industry online.

Sheila Michael Cox on Facebook said, "I'm so glad I found Real Estate Express ! I enrolled and I'm glad I did ! Coming from an all medical back ground, I was nervous about taking an online class but that went away from day one. My instructor answered my questions right away and the format is easy to follow. The biggest plus are the Webinars! 3 different instructors 5 days a week are live to answer all their questions and work any problem fellow class mates have on a white board or they use images to help them better understand the subject they're studying! I don't know how anybody passes without utilizing this option! I feel so much more confident in passing the state exam just by attending as many as I can! They won't be disappointed and good luck to all!"

The next addition to the list is Career WebSchool, and it remains among the top-tier online continuing education companies on offer. This real estate education company is refined and provides a drawer of resources that are easy to access from anywhere. It's only offered in a few states but does provide incredible value to its students.

S. Robinson on careerwebschool.com said, "I truly enjoyed the program, it worked well with my schedule, and I can?t argue with success: yesterday morning, I went to take my real estate test and I passed ? the first time! I contribute all of this to the Career Webschool education methodology and I recommend it to anyone. Thanks again!"

The final addition would be Allied Business School, and this is a newer option in the market of real estate education companies. It has a flexible option and is limited to its reach, but the standards are high.

"For 2 1/2 years I have been referring would be Real Estate agent to Allied Business Schools for the Real Estate courses. Everyone there is very professional and patient. I am a recruiter in the Career Services department and we appreciate their level of service and professionalism. Would and do recommend over and over," said Tina Keene on Yelp.
