July 10, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

With the school year coming to a close for the summer holidays, it is expected that more parents will be preparing grilled foods for their children who are now out of school. Grace Jerk Seasoning, available in both hot and mild flavors, is said to be the ideal seasoning to help children enjoy an authentic Jamaican jerk taste.

The product can be used on a variety of staple proteins, such as fish, chicken, beef and pork, as well as vegetables and tofu, allowing children who are also vegetarians to enjoy the taste of jerk. It is available in a 10-ounce jar and made in Jamaica from a number of exotic herbs and spices. It allows people who are not living in Jamaica to achieve the same taste as real Jamaican Jerk.

Jerking is a form of meat preservation that became popular in Jamaica and is now a flavor sought by many people around the world. With many visitors to Jamaica introducing their children to jerk chicken and jerk pork, sold in many restaurants and street corners in the island, there is often a need to replicate the taste back home for the family. Grace Jamaican Jerk Seasoning allows parents to give their kids the same jerk taste when cooking on their grills or baking meats in the oven.

?We recently came back from a cruise. Wanted to make jerk chicken like we ate on the beach. This product is just what we needed. Nice packaging. Good flavor. Fast shipping,? said Julie Etter in a verified Amazon review.

With over 200 reviews, the product has received mostly positive comments from online shoppers, many of whom have expressed similar sentiments. Many have also stated that it is the best jerk sauce they have ever tasted.

Parents who are thinking of ways to spice up barbecued meals for their children during the summer may consider the Grace Jamaican Jerk Seasoning from Grace. Each purchase is accompanied by a free e-book, filled with a number of jerk recipes.
