June 27, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Perth based Refresh Face and Skin Rejuvenation have recently released their face and neck skin rejuvenation system which they believe to be far superior to competitive services. Due to this announcement they are offering local clients a substantial savings during the winter season. Refresh Face and Skin Rejuvenation is now offering a savings of up to $1000 on their face and neck rejuvenation treatments. All of these treatments are performed by a registered nurse, which means that clients can rest easy in regards to health and safety during the procedure. The professionals on staff at Refresh are highly experienced in this type of topical treatment, and those who are interested in hearing about the results of other customers can take a look at reviews on the company's Facebook page, which is located at <https://www.facebook.com/PerthIPL>

The company is known for using IPL or Intense Pulses of Light to repair skin damage and rejuvenate their client's faces and necks. The company has said the following regarding the IPL procedure and what it can do for their client's skin:

"You will be amazed at the wonders that Skin Rejuvenation / Photo Rejuvenation can do to stimulate collagen production for your skin. I simply love the results I have from this, and want you to experience the same!"

Interested consumers are also invited to visit the company's alternative social media platforms, such as their Google+ account, found at <https://plus.google.com/+RefreshIPLPerthIPL/about> Visitors to this account can take a look through images of the rejuvenation process, read a description written directly by Refresh associates, and see YouTube videos supplied by the company. This is another location where curious individuals can see what others have thought about the services through reviews and testimonials, and the company invites all of their client base to leave their own comments here as well.

Although the IPL procedures are currently being promoted for rejuvenation of face and neck skin, and this may be primarily sought after by female clients, the team at Refresh has wasted no time in letting their male customers know that there is plenty of ways they can reap the benefits of this tool as well. The company has stated that men can also utilize the extremely revitalizing effects of the IPL on their faces, but there is another way that gentleman in particular can enjoy this treatment. They explain:

"Gents, is the hair poking up out of the top of your shirt but you don't want a hairless chest? Call me and in no time flat, I can knock-back just the hair around your neckline. Getting a lot of razor-bumps and ingrown hairs on your face? Does it hurt to shave? A few IPL sessions helped my husband...a couple sessions may help you too! Call me!"

The IPL technology used by Refresh Face and Skin Rejuvenation is reported by the company to be completely safe, and currently the majority of reviews and ratings show that they have a high success rate in regards to happy customers. They have encouraged all those who may be considering IPL to contact them now for more information on the current discount and promotion.
