Elizabeth Robinson, who is the spokesperson for the company Vi-Tae, Inc., Has announced that their line of African Black Soap is now available for customers to buy on Amazon. She added that their certified organic aromatherapy herbal bar soap is 100% Pure and All Natural.

The company stated that their organic aromatherapy herbal bar soap is rich in antioxidants and also contains antiaging ingredients such as leaf powder, plantain, Shea butter and Rosemary extract. The African Black Soap also contains vitamins A and E. The company added that because of the rich antioxidants, this soap will help to fight free radicals, which in turn will visibly reduce and help prevent wrinkles. In a review written by a happy customer, she describes the experience her mother had when using the soap,

"The ingredients lists of most soaps are kind of scary, but this soap contains no substances with long incomprehensible names. The ingredients are truly natural and quite recognizable. I use it mainly as a body and hand soap, so I can't speak to it as a face soap. But it's easy on my skin. It also seems to be fairly long lasting. I haven't gone through my first bar yet. Like other black soaps I've tried, it does get soggy on the bottom with use, but that's a small enough drawback for such a nice soap. I've been trying various black soaps lately, because they go with my bathroom decor. This is the most confidence-inspiring. It's organic, a huge plus. Made in U.S.A., another huge plus. It lathers beautifully. It's not heavily perfumed, but has a fresh, clean, slightly spicy scent."

Charcoal powder is another ingredient found in the African Black Soap. Elizabeth stated that the powder helps to pull dirt and bacteria from the pores, which the company says is a great defense against acne. Because bergamot and coconut oil have been paired into their organic soap, it can also help to naturally fade scars and repair skin.

The African Black Soap from Vi-Tae is handmade in the USA, and the product is also 100% pure, vegan and contains USDA organic plant-based ingredients making it a luxurious certified organic soap. Elizabeth added that customers would also be happy that their product contains no parabens, petroleum, alcohol, fragrances, dyes, animal fats, preservatives or GMOs. One customer bought the African Black Soap in the hopes that it would deal with a leg rash that appeared during the summer, and had the following to say in their review on Amazon,

"...It worked very good. No more itching or red area. I think the natural ingredients make the skin feel better and real clean. Soap has imperceptible odor. I think it is a good product for all occasions."

Vi-Tae said that they are very confident people will love their African Black Soap, which is why they are more than happy to offer all of their customers an extended one year, no questions asked, money back guarantee.
