An online pet store that aims to provide both dogs and dog lovers with the highest quality products and information is in the process of adding new information specific to certain dog breeds, about which they share a lot of information on their Pinterest page. They have now announced that the Siberian Husky now has its own place on that particular social media page.

A representative from the company says: "Our new Siberian Husky zone on Pinterest is definitely cool. It shows all the amazing products we have available for and about Huskies, including the no pull harness, our different necklaces with pendants, and the Husky cushions we have available. As always, we will be adding more to the page as and when they become available."

One of the primary ways in which the company builds its website and product line is through direct communication with clients. They encourage people to follow them on Twitter, for instance, and to Tweet them any suggestions regarding certain breeds or products that they would like to see on the website.

Indeed, this was how they decided to add the Husky Zone in the first place. The representative adds: "There are so many amazing breeds available and we aim to have them all added to our sites at some point. But we need your help to do it. Please do browse through our site and Pinterest page and let us know if there is any breed or item that we're missing, and we'll set about to make the necessary changes as soon as possible."

The Top Dog Deals is a popular company because they are different from other online pet stores. They not only offer useful products to improve the lives of man's best friend, but also enable people to express their love for their dogs as well. The representative explains: "We want to make sure people can have a little bit of their favorite breed with them at all times. This could be through wall art, cushions, jewelry, and so on. Dogs are such beautiful animals and we want to help people let this beauty shine through."
