"Imagine if some of your employees feel uncomfortable at work because of the furniture that is available," adds Pat Borden. "Sooner or later, this will affect their physical health, and their mental health as well. People don't want to work somewhere that they associate with discomfort. We want to make sure that no business has to find itself in that situation ever again, but without them having to break the bank at the same time."

Indeed, a common reason cited by businesses about why they purchase furniture that is not quite fit for purpose, is cost. That is why Mayline Office Furniture is committed to delivering high quality, but affordable pieces. They encourage anyone to check their website to see the available collections. Pat Borden says: "I think people will be pleasantly surprised at just how affordable our collections are. There really is no need to make your employees sit on something that is uncomfortable and that doesn't look good anymore. Use our live chat facility to have an informal discussion about the possibilities."
