July 31, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Washington, DC -- Plumber in DC recently made an announcement regarding its newly expanded service hours. The company stated that ? until recently ? it offered plumbing services during standard business hours only. The company announced that it is now providing those same services on a 24/7 basis. The company went on to explain the reasoning for these expanded service hours. For one, the company stated that residents of the Washington, D.C. area have recently been requesting 24/7 plumbing services, and these expanded hours were implemented in order to meet that persistent demand. Additionally, Plumber in DC has expanded its service hours in order to help homeowners deal with the damaging and harmful effects that plumbing emergencies can have.

Plumber in DC wanted to make sure that homeowners ? and business owners ? were made aware of the effects that plumbing emergencies can have on both buildings and people. Plumber in DC stated that emergencies such as floods, leaks, and broken gas lines can cause serious structural damage to a home or business. More than that, according to Plumber in DC, such emergencies can actually harm the buildings?

occupants. Plumber in DC stated that its recently expanded hours will prevent these situations from happening. According to Plumber in DC, the sooner a plumbing emergency is fixed, the less likelihood there is of structural damage or health hazards.

Plumber in DC also announced that its expanded service hours do cover weekends and holidays. According to Plumber in DC, this decision was made so that residents of Washington, D.C. could have help whenever they needed it. Plumber in DC also stated that information pertaining to its new service hours has been posted to its business site, <https://plus.google.com/+PlumberInDCWashington>. Plumber in DC went on to state that these new hours will greatly benefit Washington-area residents.

In its closing comments, Plumber in DC gave some brief company information. Plumber in DC stated that it is a family-owned company that employs licensed master plumbers and master gas fitters. Plumber in DC also stated that its service capabilities include sewer service, water heater repair, pipe repair, gas line repair, and remodeling services. <http://www.plumberindc.com>
