August 15, 2017

August 15, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SEOs Houston, a digital marketing agency in Houston, TX, is proud to announce that, after the recent success with online marketing for the construction industry in the Houston area, they have now expanded their services to include other key industries. They now offer services for real estate and law firm SEO Houston services, and around 25 other leading industries. These new services are added to the company's website as and when they are made available.

Robert Ferguson from SEOs Houston says: "Having done so well with our services in the construction industry, we felt it was time to expand. We started by modifying our offerings so that they were more suited to law firms, and then quickly found that they were quite similar to real estate as well. This set us on the path of developing packages for different industries, and we're really excited about moving in this direction."

Offering Houston SEO services, the company focuses on a variety of digital marketing tools. These include video marketing, reputation marketing, social media, pay per click services, and more. Currently, they serve Houston, Spring, Conroe, Katy, and Sugarland, offering localized optimization as a standard part of their packages. They do not believe in a one size fits all solution, instead creating custom packages for each of their clients in line with their particular industry.

Meanwhile, their services have been very well received. Mareo S., for instance, says on the company website: "With SEOsHouston.com it is worth the money spent. Their highly trained SEO experts will not only improve search engine ranking, but at the same time they will help you generate quality traffic. I am very pleased with their professionalism as both our sites are reaping the benefits of their hard work."

People are encouraged to view the services offered by SEOs Houston and to review the other SEO blog sites where they have been mentioned. The company aims to add new key industries to their offerings regularly, so those who are in industries not yet covered are asked to check back regularly, or to contact the company for a custom package.
