

Naturals For Animals Releases Natural Pet Care Book

June 24, 2015

June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

St Petersburg, FL based company, Naturals For Animals, has released a natural pet care book, which is written by Holistic Pet Care Consultant, Susan R Griffin. Ms.Griffin is recognized in the pet care community as a groomer, trainer, author and holistic pet care consultant. The book is being offered for free, and May 1, 2015 was the 35 year celebration of her success in this field.

The Free Book by Holistic Pet Care Consultant, Susan R Griffin can be found through the company website. Here pet owners can quickly and easily fill out an online form which includes name, e-mail address, and pet type, before the eBook can be accessed. The book is described as, "The one book every dog and cat owner should read to create a healthy pet the Natural Way!" If the book follows much of the information available on the website, it should help readers learn about getting rid of pet allergies, skin problems, and reducing costly vet bills through more holistic forms of healing and care. Naturals For Animals says:

"Whether you currently have a healthy companion, or are desperate and discouraged by expensive and unsuccessful vet treatments for allergies, itchy skin, and more; the products on this site and information in "Simple Steps to a Healthy Pet" and the articles and blog on the site are what you have been searching for."

Another successful endeavor by the company is their Critter Oil also available on Amazon. The oil comes in 1 ounce, 1/2 ounce, 2 ounce, or 4 ounce bottles, depending on the amount required by the pet owner. It works to create shampoos, flea treatments, and other products for pets using 15 natural essential oils. The company stands by this product as a great way to care for a number of ailments and pet problems, and describes it as follows:

"Every oil in Critter Oil's proprietary blend, serves a purpose. Some have degreasing properties which not only deep clean making white coats whiter (not yellow like some other products), and colors brighter, but also break down the waxy exterior skeletons of fleas, bird mites, and other insect pests on contact. Some of the oils have insect repellent properties; others absorb into hair conditioning it to a natural, non-greasy softness; while others have medicating properties which help heal itchy, smelly skin and eliminate staff and fungus."

Customers who are interested in learning more about Naturals For Animals, the free book by Susan R. Griffin, or the essential oil for pets, are encouraged by the company to visit their FaceBook link. This reportedly provides fantastic insight into the company, promotions, upcoming product releases, and allows consumers to interact, and check out other customer testimonials and reviews. The social media account also gives pet owners a chance to check out some interested articles posted by the company, along with images and videos supplied regularly. Consumers are also invited to contact the company through their website, and leave feedback on their Amazon.com sales page.
