M Kaur, who is the spokesperson for the company EXOUS Bodygear, has announced that they have launched their sports bottle with a straw on Amazon. She added that the latest 600 mL sports bottle is stylish and feature packed, and is confident the customers will be thrilled with it.

One of the main features of EXOUS Bodygear's sports bottle with a straw is that it can be used for vertical drinking as well, and is optional, as the straw can be removed. The reason why the company said it is an important feature is because it allows people to use their bottle while driving so that they can stay focused on the road even keen cyclists will benefit from the design.

The bottle also has a wide mouth for easy pouring and adding ice cubes. It is manufactured with 18/8 food grade stainless steel and is completely BPA free, and the double insulation can keep drinks cold for 24 hours. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"The best water bottle I've ever had! Superbly manufactured & stylish too! Keeping my water cold for very long periods of time! The inbuilt straw is a useful option, although it can be removed if you prefer!

Whether you're at the gym or out on your bike this is the only water bottle you need in your life! Great product & great value too!"

EXOUS Bodygear stated that their sports bottle with a straw, which is exclusively available on Amazon UK, is designed to be completely leak-proof, even if customers turn the bottle upside down. To improve comfort and safety on the road, the bottle also fits easily into most bottle holders on cycles and cup holders for cars. It also comes with a retractable flip, which improves hygiene and makes drinking easier.

The company added that while they wanted their bottle to be extremely useful, style was also an important aspect, because customers will be carrying the bottle around wherever they go. They stated that customers will love the stylish brushed stainless steel design, which looks sleek and sporty. Another customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"I bought this stainless steel bottle based on the features listed about the product namely, wanted a flip style cap for convenience a wider mouth as I hate narrow openings always end up spilling half the drink everywhere. It also should not leak and keep my drinks ice cold. It does all of the above very well and is easily the best insulated bottle for the value..."

Customers will also be happy to know that the food grade stainless steel inner wall ensures that there will be no leaching of flavors, and the bottle will also not retain any smells or tastes from previous drinks. Kaur stated that while the company put every effort to creating a high quality sports bottle, they remind customers not to dish wash, microwave or freeze the bottle. Instead, they recommend that customers use a mild detergent that contains no abrasive products to clean the bottle. Hot liquids can be used up to 50 degrees Celsius.

For those who would like more information on the sports bottle with straw, they are encouraged to go to the company's Amazon storefront. EXOUS Bodygear also has a Facebook page, which customers are encouraged to visit at the following URL: <https://www.facebook.com/exousbodygear>
