Gainesville VA Eye Doctor Happy To Receive Rave Review

August 17, 2017

August 17, 2017 -
GH Eye in Gainesville, Virginia, has announced recently that they have received a rave review from a patient. Dr. Ally Stoeger, key optometrist with the eye care center, says that the facility has recently received a five star review. This is just the latest in a long series of positive reviews that have been received recently by GH Eye.

In the review, which can be viewed on YouTube at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xJeDasX3FNg, Andrew, a GH Eye care patient says, "I switched to GH Eye in Gainesville Virginia and they were absolutely amazing to work with. They took time with me and best of yet, they helped solve eye problems I had complained to MyEyeDr about for years. Oh, and they charged LESS than online contact retailers. I didn't have to negotiate. Wonderful place."

Dr. Stoeger says that GH Eye is always happy to receive such reviews and encourages area residents to consider them when they require eye care. The eye care facility has been serving Gainesville residents since 2012 with a variety of eye care specialties including those for children, teens, adults and seniors. Those interested in learning more about the doctor and GH Eye can read the other GH Eye reviews on Google Maps. The eye care center is conveniently located in Heritage Village Plaza with easy access for all patients from any location. Dr. Stoeger and her staff urge those considering a new eye care facility to read through their newest raving review along with those from past clients to get an idea of how the facility works.

Dr. Stoeger urges those who are in need of eye care to schedule an appointment as she states that patients who neglect their eye care can often incur long term damage that could be difficult or even impossible to correct. She states that eye care is a must for everyone and that it is something that should be prioritized along with regular health checkups.
