August 24, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Reignzone LLC has announced its official launch to offer various accessories for preparing tea. The Pembroke Pines, Florida based company has declared that they are open for business to provide various products for those who love to drink tea.

"We are proud to announce our official company opening," says Joy Stephen, a spokesperson for Reignzone. "We offer a number of products and are proud to bring our customers the highest quality tea bottles and other accessories."

One of the products is an infuser bottle that has a multi-use function that allows customers to go from brewing loose leaf tea to drinking it. The bottle features a no leak function and easily fits into any standard cup holder including those found in cars, gym equipment and outdoor seating. "It's an all in one tea infuser and cup," says Stephen. "And we have a wide range of accessories that make your tea drinking experience a very positive one."

The company's products range from infusers and bottles to various other tea accessories that the company states are perfect for those who want to enjoy a cold or hot cup of tea. The products are designed to help tea drinkers save both time and money, and to be convenient to bring along anywhere they go.

Reignzone states that their tea products are designed to work with any loose leaf tea and allow customers to customize their drinks however they like them. Tea has become a quite popular drink by those looking to lose weight and get fit as well as consumers who simply want to enjoy a healthier lifestyle. Green tea is a popular drink among those looking to add a healthier approach to their drinks and the company states that by using their products customers can brew their own green tea. Consumers can also cut down on the number of preservatives that they ingest by preparing their own tea from scratch as opposed to purchasing it premade.

Those interested in learning more about the company and its various tea accessories, including a tea infuser bottle, can find them on the Amazon marketplace, where a complete listing of their products can be found.
