

Rockwell Trading Uses New, Innovative Software To Make Trading Simple

August 23, 2017

August 23, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Markus Heitkoetter, the founder of RockwellTrading.com, recently launched software to beat the market volatility. The PowerX Analyzer helps investors to narrow down to the top 3-8 stocks of over 13,000s or ETFs with few clicks.

Everyone knows that these days in stock market trading, investors have to make snap decisions to profit from the quick moves. For instance, after breaking 22,000 for the first time ever and making new all-time highs on August 1, the Dow Jones Industrial Index fell 1.2% within days. Global concerns about North Korea, the Trump administration, low oil prices and uncertainty over interest rates are making the markets more volatile than ever.

Therefore, in order to avoid losses or make potential profits, investors have to make quick decisions whether to buy, sell or hold a stock. That doesn?t leave time to consult stock experts or read extensive research reports to settle on a choice. How a trader can successfully trade stocks or ETF?s these days is a question many are asking.

Fortunately, Rockwell Trading has developed software for beginners and expert investors that helps them to make an instant decision on their trade, as timing is always key for making a higher return on investments.

PowerX Analyzer from Rockwell Trading helps investors to analyze the stock performance quickly and enables them to make the right investment decision.

PowerX Analyzer is easy to use, and traders and investors only need 15 minutes a day to identify and place their trades. Although all the entry signals of PowerX Analyzer are according to Rockwell Trading proprietary PowerX strategy, the software allows users to optimize or analyze their exits for each stock with the click of a button.

In addition, Rockwell Trading system uses higher profit targets compared to stop losses, allowing investors to make a higher return on investments, even if their winning percentage stands below 50%.

In fact, the software even gives the exact entry and exit prices taking all the guesswork out of trading. The trader simply fires up the software, inputs the given trades with their broker to be placed at market open and then checks their stats when they get home from work that evening?or on their phone on the go. It?s that simple.

With multiple functions, ease of use and the potential to offer best trading strategies, PowerX Analyzer opens up the world of stocks and options tradings to the busy beginner who always wanted to trade, but never could find the time to finally profit on markets. For more information, visit the company's website at
