June 19, 2015

June 19, 2015 -
Kadri Egbeyemi, who is the spokesperson for the company InterWeb Marketing LLC, has announced that High-Traffic Academy has released training on how to make money online. Kadri added that students who sign up for the training, which is called Total Domination Engineering, will be learning "The most anticipated Traffic and Conversion Secrets". He added that students will be getting information "Never before revealed by any Internet marketing Guru".

In order to get access to the training material, which is free for a limited time, students need to Click Here. This will forward them to the following URL: https://kadriqcc.click/link/90 Once they arrive on the landing page, they will be required to fill out a form in order to view the training material, which is presented by Vick Strizheus.

For most marketers, the most important aspect of Internet marketing is generating qualified traffic, turning that traffic into relevant leads, and then converting those leads into loyal paying customers. Kadri stated that as simple as the process seems, this is one area that can be very challenging for Internet marketers because of the overload of information that can be found on the Internet. He added that the best way to find out "How To learn traffic conversions fast" is by learning from experts who have become successful themselves by executing the same system over and over, and the information learned in the training provided by Vick Strizheus, Kadri Egbeyemi believes, will be an excellent starting point. Kadri Egbeyemi also made the following statement,

"So many "marketing gurus"love to profess how important it is to get tons of traffic. They will tell you that building leads is important, using comments like "the money is in the list", but then never go further than that. They like to tell everyone what is important in order to make money, but they don't show them how. What's great about the High Traffic Academy is that they hold the students by hand, showing them step-by-step all the important aspects that's needed to create loyal paying customers."

Once a student signs up for the Total Domination Engineering training video, they will be learning advanced traffic methods, which they say is still very new in the world of online marketing. The training will also be showing students how to use a strategy that generated close to 500,000 leads without spending any money. There is also a section that shows students how to engineer a 60% or more email open rate.

Kadri Egbeyemi said that while the training is 100% free, the information provided is extremely valuable. He added that this is not the type of training you will find that is simply aimed at creating fluff in order to make students buy something. Instead, students will be learning valuable information that will help them increase the amount of traffic to their website, generate a large volume of leads, no matter the niche, and get high email open rates, which in turn has the huge potential to generate paying customers.
