September 01, 2017 -
Reputed plumbing service provider based in Washington, DC has announced that it will be expanding its water damage restoration services in DC, in order to help DC area homeowners deal with the effects of a wet spring and summer.

(Washington, DC, August 2017) DC Plumber, LLC, a longstanding plumbing services provider in the DC area, recently made an announcement concerning its expanded water damage restoration services. The company stated that it decided to expand its water damage restoration services as a way to help homeowners in the DC area. The company went on to state that water damage has been a huge problem in the DC area in the past year, especially considering the exceptionally wet spring and summer of 2017. DC Plumber stated that its expanded water damage restoration services will help homeowners deal with the unfortunate effects of flooding, as well as leaky pipes and other sources of invasive water.

DC Plumber went on to describe some of the adverse effects that water damage can have. DC Plumber stated that for one, water damage can cause structural damage to a building. Water damage can harm and weaken ceilings, roofs, walls, and floors. DC Plumber also stated that water damage can cause unsightly stains that can detract from the overall appearance of a house. DC Plumber went on to state that water damage can be a serious health hazard as well, as it can breed bacteria, fungus, and fatal pathogens. DC Plumber stated that homeowners are often not aware of some of the dangers that water damage can pose. DC Plumber stated that this is part of the reason that it has chosen to expand its water damage restoration service--to keep DC area homeowners safe.

DC Plumber went on to describe some of the steps that it takes in order to treat water damage and its harmful effects. DC Plumber stated that it surveys houses for any structural damage. DC Plumber also stated that it has tools that can dry wet spots rapidly, in order to prevent water damage from worsening. DC Plumber also uses anti-bacterial, antiviral, and antifungal cleaning agents on all surfaces that have come into contact with water. This is done to prevent the spread of disease.

DC Plumber closed by providing some company information. DC Plumber, LLC has been serving residents of the DC area for years. Its master plumbers and gas fitters service homes and businesses throughout the DC area. The company stated that it has always taken great care to ensure customer satisfaction and safety.
