September 11, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Sarasota, Florida based CannabisOilForSale.org has recently announced that they have released new information for those looking to purchase cannabidiol (CBD) oil. The company states that they are doing this to help customers know what to look for in a quality oil.

In the information, which can be seen at <https://www.cannabisoilforsale.org/cbd-gummies/>, the website also provides a description of the CBD oil so that consumers will know how to check for a quality and legal product. For instance, the smell and flavor are described as well as some general information on the benefits of using CBD oil.

Website representative Sam Jackson says, "There are just so many options with regards to CBD oils and edibles. It's important to know what you are looking for and to verify that your products are legitimate and have been handled properly."

Jackson points out that CBD that has been heated above 200 degrees can become damaged and urges those who are purchasing to ensure that they verify the handling of the oil. He explains that many products are heated above 200 degrees during cooking and that this can also nullify many of the benefits of CBD. He also states that those who are interested can learn more about handling and using CBD oil by visiting the website on its official Twitter page at https://twitter.com/cbdoil\_4sale.

"There are many ways to prepare candies and other foods and most of these use cooking processes that could render the oil useless," says Jackson. "It is our goal with the released information to ensure that anyone who purchases and plans to use CBD oil knows to check to see how it was handled and to ensure that they themselves are handling it properly."

Jackson points out that the gummies that are infused with CBD oil are eligible for ordering from their website and says that the information provided by the website outlines this as well as other misinformation that consumers need to be aware of. Those interested can learn more on the company's official Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/cbdrevolution>.
