September 18, 2017 -
Coddington Design, an interior design firm in San Francisco, California, has announced that they have been featured in an article in Traditional Home. The article focused on designs for the outdoor pool and entertaining areas. Melanie Coddington, owner and principal designer, says, "It is truly an honor to be featured in such a prominent magazine. Traditional Home is a staple in our industry and I am so pleased that they chose our work to highlight."

The article details the palette chosen by Coddington and talks about how the colors of navy, aubergine, oyster and taupe work together to form a look that stands for all seasons. Coddington's designs are said to highlight the beauty of the Napa Valley and the article outlines the use of textures and natural materials by Melanie and her team. Those interested in learning more about Coddington and their latest project can view their Facebook page.

The article goes on to say that the outdoor area designed by Coddington is all about entertaining and connects to the kitchen, which makes it a very popular area. Coddington designed the outdoor space to work well in all seasons, whether during summer with the pool or throughout the fall around the cozy fireplace. An outdoor kitchen in the space is said to add to the beauty and allure of the space that the design firm created. The home itself overlooks a vineyard.

Coddington Design was founded by Melanie Coddington and is a full-service interior design firm that specializes in residential and commercial projects in the San Francisco Bay Area, Los Angeles, Napa and surrounding areas. The firm provides comprehensive luxury design services from renovations to full scale projects from conception to installation. Clients value the team approach offered by the firm, which includes ongoing communication and a penchant for the big picture as well as the finest details of a project.

"Whether it's starting with a blank canvas or working with favorite furnishings and heirlooms, we provide turnkey service and guarantee a result that's personal for each client," says Coddington. Those interested can contact the design team to learn more.
