

Rip Toned Fitness Dip Belt Now Available In Canada

September 25, 2017

September 25, 2017 -
Las Vegas, Nevada based Rip Toned Fitness, a provider of various fitness and weightlifting products, had initially launched its dip belt onto the Amazon marketplace for customers in the United States and this subsequently proved to be very popular. They have now announced that the belt has become available to customers in Canada through the Amazon marketplace.

Mark Pasay, a representative for the company, says: "Our dip belt became an instant hit on the American market via Amazon, so we decided to branch out and offer it in other countries. This is an Amazon bestseller and a top notch product, and it comes with web content and video instructions as well."

Pasay explains that the video tutorials offered by Rip Toned Fitness help people to make sure that they are properly using the belt, which in turn helps them to avoid injuries that are common with weightlifting. He states that the belt itself offers a way to maximize gains when lifting. The belt comes with guides from champion weightlifter Kevin Weiss in the form of online videos.

"Kevin Weiss is the champion of champions in lifting," says Pasay. "He can help you to get past those plateaus and our dip belt can certainly help you as well, while protecting you from overextending and other injuries that are all too common with lifters."

The belt was first released to weightlifters in the United States market just a short while ago and has since gained massive positive reviews on the Amazon website. Pasay says that this is the main reason that they have decided to offer it through Amazon.ca and it has been marketed in France, Germany, Spain and Italy as well. Rip Toned Fitness states that they want to bring their quality products to a worldwide market and opening up the dip belt for orders from other countries is the first step in doing so. They are also planning to offer other products, such as their popular wrist wraps, to additional Amazon markets.

Those interested in learning more about the belt or the company in general can visit them on their official website or search for them on the Amazon marketplace.
