Monika's Marketplace is a company in Sanford, FL, that aims to deliver household products to the market that increase people's quality of life through greater convenience. With the first day of Fall just arriving, the weather has started to become cooler in many locations. Hence, people are starting to fight cold drafts in their homes. The company has now announced the relaunch of their under door draft stopper for such concerns.

Monika, a spokesperson for Monika's Marketplace, says: "People fight drafts seemingly endlessly. During the warm months of Summer, we seem to forget about them, but they are back with a vengeance now. Drafts cool down the entire house, and they also make heating systems less efficient, as the warm air quickly escapes from the room. Our draft stopper is the perfect way to address that. While you may not have the heating on just yet, they will still help to keep your rooms more comfortable."

The draft stopper measures 37" in length, meaning it perfectly fits most standard doors. It works best on doors that aren't recessed or raised. It is designed to fit flush against the bottom of the door, thereby stopping warm air from escaping.

The product was originally released last year and quickly became a best selling item. People hailed its effectiveness, and also the fact that it is available in a range of designs. "This product was what I needed at the time I needed it. It works for me and honestly, if you're just looking for something simple, that'll stop the draft under your door, I feel certain that it'll work for you. It's not often you get to say these words about a consumer goods these days...," says an Amazon customer.

The stopper is designed to be heavy and durable. Each weighs 1.4lbs, and it is covered with a heavy duty cloth. It also comes with a storage bag as a bonus, fitted with a hanging cord, so that the stopper can easily be stored. This under door draft stopper can be found on Amazon.com.
