Raceway Nissan, a car dealership in Riverside, CA, has announced that their service department is now open seven days a week, which means that it is now open on Sundays. Full details about the company, the services that they provide, and their opening hours are available through their Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/RacewayNissan>.

Mark Andary from Raceway Nissan says: "We want to make sure that people can always get the most out of their Nissan, and that means we have to offer our services at a time that is convenient for them, and not the other way around. Thus, our clients will no longer have to take time off work in order to have their vehicle fixed or serviced. We are now open seven days per week, so they can come any time they want."

The company also encourages people to visit their web page at Raceway Nissan to find out about any offers the company has for repairs and services. Andary adds: "If you need service on your car, or OEM Nissan parts, you want two things: you want quality service and you want it to be affordable. Here at Raceway Nissan, we like to give all our customers what they want, so we regularly offer OEM Nissan service and parts specials and coupons in Riverside that you can use to save money during your next visit to our Nissan

As shown on the company's Facebook page, Raceway Nissan has set itself apart as the go-to place for all things Nissan in Riverside. Jenny J., for instance, says on the dealer's Facebook page: "I purchased my new car from Raceway Nissan. Omar helped me with the selection, price and reliability. He didn't pressure me in anyway and treated me like family. So today a family friend express that she needed a car. Took her to Raceway Nissan and once again Omar helped us. She got the car she wanted. I will continue to send anyone I know to see him. Thank you Omar."

To schedule a Service or for further information on the work that they do and their new opening hours, they encourage people to visit their website.
