June 24, 2015 -
Foxbrim, a Lake Alfred, FL beauty company has recently reached 800 reviews on Amazon for their latest product offering, their Peptide serum. The serum contains a variety of specific ingredients producing results that are widely commended by Foxbrim's thousands of customers. Being a relatively new company, Foxbrim's customer base has expanded at an astonishing rate, crediting it primarily to their appealing range of care products. Their anti aging serum reaffirms Foxbrim's reputation by scoring an impressive 4.7 rating out of 5 on their Amazon store.

The primary ingredients in the peptide complex serum are the silk amino acid blend. Peptides consist of chemically bonded amino acid chains that form the building blocks of proteins in our body. These amino acids make up the peptide contents of the serum, providing it with the unique properties that are its selling strength. The peptides, in their short-chain amino acid form, are able to penetrate the outer layer of skin to be absorbed deep within the tissue. With the addition of a range of amino acids, the serum provides an important source of nutrients required by the skin. The amino acids work in conjunction with other ingredients to promote essential metabolic functions of the skin tissue. L-Serine, for example, has been shown in studies to promote nerve response in tissues and L-Proline is well known to significantly increase the stability of collagen; the tissue responsible for maintaining suppleness and elasticity of the skin.

By utilizing ingredients that are scientifically proven to support the serum's promise of reducing signs of aging, Foxbrim has established itself as a reliable and trustworthy brand. However, peptides alone are not sufficient enough to deliver the maximum benefits offered by serum. Therefore, with the inclusion of additional ingredients like antioxidants, witch hazel, aloe and Hyaluronic Acid the serum covers a range of aspects necessary to produce satisfactory results.

Most peptide based anti-aging serums available are comparatively expensive as the manufacturing and sourcing of specific amino acids raises production costs. The special price offered by Foxbrim for the serum offers an exceptionally attractive deal to its customers. Their products are manufactured in the U.S., maintaining all related quality standards are available on their website as well as their Amazon store.

Items available at Foxbrim's Amazon store offer a premium postage service via Amazon Prime. Apart from several other benefits, this service allows free and prompt delivery of their items. The company encourages its customers to gain knowledge and awareness of its products in order for them to make more informed decisions and receive the best results possible. Additionally, users are urged to communicate with them to receive updates and promotional offers by contacting them on their Facebook page.
