Star Infiniti has recently re-released their colored pencil set, and they have also upgraded it so that this time, it is actually a complete gift set. It doesn't just come with pencils, but also with paper and paint brush. Furthermore, the set includes a number of other bonus items.

A representative from Star Infiniti says: "Coloring books have become incredibly popular over recent years, with people using more and more colors to create beautiful works of art. Once upon a time, this was something for children only, but we now know that this activity can be very relaxing, which means that it is beneficial for everybody. Our set is age-neutral and complete, and we encourage everyone who likes art to try it out."

The coloring pencil set also comes with two e-coloring books, two paint brushes, and a sketch pad. The pencils come presharpenered and there are 48 different pencils in the box, divided over different shades and colors. Each pencil is very durable, which means that it is perfect for children as well, who won't get frustrated because their pencils keep breaking.

Furthermore, the set now comes in an easy carry case, which helps to keep all the pencils properly organized and stored. In fact, those are some of things that reviewers have commented on in particular. They first find it very easy to see which color they need at a glance. Secondly, there are many shades to pick from so all kids can draw rather at the same time instead of having to wait. Thirdly, that it is so easy to put things away in a neat and tidy manner.

The Star Infinity representative adds: "One of the things people have often complained about when they purchase larger pencil sets, is how difficult it is to keep everything together. While you can be traditional and place them in a mug or drinking glass, that makes them hard to store. Our carry case means all pencils have their place, and that it easily slides into some sort of storage."

It has been observed that while the re-released colored pencils set has only been available for a short period of time, it is already proving to be very popular.
