October 23, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Truval, a gold buyer business in New York, NY that buys your unwanted gold, silver and other jewelry, has announced that they now offer the ability for people to make an appointment online. This can be done through the company's website at <https://truval.com/locations/sell-jewelry-watch-nyc/>. The company feels that this added convenience will be highly beneficial for their clients.

Cesar from Truval says: "You can sell diamonds, gold jewelry, luxury watches, gold and silver coins, and fine silver right here in NYC or by mailing it in from anywhere in the country. For in store appointments, start by making an appointment with our expert team of appraisers to have your jewelry properly assessed. We know that the Diamond District can be intimidating that's why we offer a private showroom and friendly staff to create an inviting, sophisticated and honorable environment. Best of all, you can now make your appointment with us online for even greater ease."

Truval is located in the heart of the Diamond District. This speaks volumes for the reputation of the company, as few businesses can survive there, if they get in at all. Customers parting with their valuable, and at times very sentimental jewelry, have high expectations of the service they want to receive. Truval prides itself on offering top of the line service, which is evident by their impressive list of customer reviews. You can read what previous satisfied customers are saying about them by visiting their Google maps page at <https://www.google.com/maps/place/Truval/@40.7573644,-73.9761826,16z/data=!4m5!3m4!1s0x89c24563cb7fbf2d:0xf27e09a3052bfb09!8m2!3d40.7576448!4d-73.9803668>, where people have left numerous positive reviews.

Kerry S., for instance, says: "I thought I would start with Truval based on their consistently positive online reviews. It became obvious why. Totally professional interaction with Steve from the initial phone call until I exited. All takes place in a real office, not the typical booth manned by impatient or rude salespeople. I never felt rushed or pressured and explanations were provided as to how values for various items were arrived at."

Those who are looking at selling gold or silver in New York are encouraged to contact Truval as soon as possible for an appointment. All contact details and online booking system are available through their website at <https://truval.com/>. The company also welcomes walk-ins to their store.
