June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mr. Homebody Brands of Springfield, MO is bringing the "end-all" for all safety razors to the shaving marketplace. Its "best safety razor" ever is a high quality safety razor product aimed at men and women seeking shaving comfort with a durable blade that shaves both smoothly and closely and yet is marketed at an economical price.

Many a consumer complains of shaving problems, particularly as razor blades age. Regardless of shaving cream or gels employed, many razors will break the skin either by abrasions or outright cuts to the face, arms, or legs. The familiar "razor burn" may complicate shaving over sensitive skin, a problem confronting both men and women. Mr. Homebody has brought the answer to these complaints to market via Amazon.com.

Many razors are available to the shaving public from a variety of sources. Manufacturers boast razor products with multiple blades and anticlogging technology. These razors may provide a number of close shaves, but they are plagued with slowly deteriorating blades and rough, uneven shaves as the blades lose their edge. "Planned obsolescence" may not be part of their design, but the bottom line reveals the need for blade or cartridge replacement on a regular basis. This need translates into many purchases over time of initially functional razors which must be replaced again and again as blades routinely fail.

Men and women increasingly are preferring safety razors for a close shave, just as professionals have recognized for years. This preference relates to quality and cost-effectiveness of the single-blade utility. As a quality product, these safety razors may save the average shaver hundreds of dollars per year because this Mr. Homebody product uses a double-edge, premium stainless steel blade in a chrome-plated razor. The razor itself is durable, sports a blade that maintains its sharpness for many, many shaves, and impresses both users and gift-givers with its luxurious presentation. The razor is easy to clean and the blade itself is said to last a lifetime and be absolutely resistant to rust. It is no wonder that this razor carries a "100% Satisfaction Guarantee" with consumers protected by a two month "Beyond Money Back Guarantee."
