Monika's Marketplace, based in Sanford, FL, has announced the re-release of their draft blockers for doors, which are now available in three different colors and styles. The company points out that this will give people more opportunities to choose something that matches their personal style. The company has noted that while the door stopper was already quite popular then, it now seems to have become even more popular.

A representative from the company says: "Our door stopper was originally released in the Autumn of last year and many people had used it to their satisfaction. Now that the weather is getting colder again, we felt that the time was right to bring it back to the market, this time in a variety of colors and styles."

The company stated that the door drafts stoppers are actually suitable for both winter and summer use. During the winter, it prevents warm air from escaping, leaving the room more warm and comfortable. And in the summer, it stops cold air from escaping. In both situations, it means that less energy has to be spent for heating or air conditioning, respectively. Thus, this will not just reduce energy bills, but also lower carbon footprint and the negative impact on the planet as a whole.

Because the door drafts blockers were already available in the past season, they have already received in excess of 300 positive reviews. People have praised the attractiveness of the stoppers, how well they work, the ease with which they can be used, as well as other things. "I bought 2 of these and they are are very well made and have cloth storage bags as well. They are 37 inches long so no gaps and the ends are weighted to stay put. I'm very happy...," says one customer.

This product that serves as a door seal bottom part is now available in suede brown, sage green, and a shiny brown pattern. It measures 37" in length, making it perfect for standard doors. It also comes with an easy storage bag, so that it can be kept in a cupboard until there is once again a need for it during summer or winter. Made from a durable material, these draft stoppers have many years of life in them to keep rooms comfortable.
