October 30, 2017 -
The Law Offices of Kevin Cortright, based in Murrieta, CA is proud to announce that they have joined 720CreditScore.com. This service is offered as a Rebuild Your Credit After Bankruptcy solution and Kevin Cortright now offers this service to all of his bankruptcy clients.

Kevin Cortright himself says: "At The Law Offices of Kevin Cortright, we know that bankruptcy is just part of your concern: You also wish to return to your previous typical life. This requires rebuilding your credit score as rapidly as feasible. For several years, we have been meeting clients that are frightened regarding the future. They often wonder how they will survive in a world that will evaluate them based on their credit score. You need debt to lease a home or acquire an automobile. In fact, more and more, companies are running credit score checks on possible workers. We've heard your concerns and we have now found solutions for them."

The Law Offices of Kevin Cortright have conducted a study into the situation. They found that those who were proactive in rebuilding their credit report would see a positive impact within 12 to 24 months after their bankruptcy discharge. What this means is that it is vital to be proactive, which also means building a new credit report rather than having no credit. Kevin Cortright adds: "Sadly, no credit score is equally as bad as a bad credit history."

720CreditScore.com is known to offer one of the best credit score education programs around. It offers seven steps to obtain a 720 credit score, helping people transform their rating within 24 months of bankruptcy. Kevin Cortright states: "With these kinds of outcomes, we made a decision to make this program available to each and every one of our bankruptcy clients free of charge. The credit rating education program usually sets you back $1,000 for enrollment. However, we enlist every one of our bankruptcy customers right into the program free of cost."

The Rebuild Your Credit After Bankruptcy solution is provided to all of those who use Cortright's services. Those interested are encouraged to contact the law firm for an appointment as soon as possible.
