New Instructional Video On Castor Oil Is Well Received

June 12, 2015

June 12, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Just over a month ago Cammile Q released the first instructional video in a series of video's on how to use beauty oils for best results. The first video was titled "How to use castor oil for eyebrow growth." In just over a month, the video has been seen by over 6000 people.

"We are very happy that our first video in the video series has been so well received," says Sarah Davis. "We never anticipated that so many should be interested in an instructional video on how to use castor oil when we started the video series. This is just amazing."

The video goes through five steps on how to apply castor oil for eyebrows for best results. The process itself is plain and simple, and everyone can do it.

The first step is to remove makeup and wash the eyebrows thoroughly before you start applying the oil. The next step is to add a couple of drops of oil to a Q-tip. Use the Q-tip to apply the oil to the eyebrow and the skin underneath. For best result, you have to apply castor oil every night for two months.

Over the next couple of months, Cammile Q will release more videos in the instructional video series. The next video in the series will be released next week. The second video will be on the topic "how to use castor oil for eyelashes." All the videos can be watched at Cammile Q's Youtube Channel.

Castor oil is a natural oil that has been used for both hair and skin for centuries in many cultures. In later years, many men and women have also started to use the oil for their eyelashes and eyebrows.
