ProH2O Launches New Hydration Backpack

November 20, 2017

November 20, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ProH2O is a business in Amersham, Buckinghamshire, United Kingdom, that has recently released a brand new hydration backpack, which is their flagship product. The product is currently available on Amazon and it has been designed for runners, hikers, and cyclers alike.

"We are proud to announce the launch of our flagship product," says Simon Ellicott from ProH2O. "It is an amazing backpack that has been designed to be convenient and easy to wear, with the main purpose of helping people stay hydrated during their outdoor pursuits. We cannot stress enough the importance of hydration while doing sports, and also to have enough water with you should something go wrong."

According to ProH2O, the hydration backpack is fitted with a high quality, non-leaking, premium internal bladder. This ensures that even during rigorous activity, the bag will never leak. The bag has been ergonomically designed, which means it does not limit range of motion in anyway. It is so lightweight that the only real weight that the person has to carry is that of the water itself. This means that it does not restrict performance at all.

Simon Ellicott adds: "We actually believe that it enhances performance. It is far lighter and more comfortable than conventional methods of carrying water, including bottles. Hence, athletes won't be tempted to bring less water than they really need. The fact that it is comfortable and the fact that people will be able to stay appropriately hydrated means that the product as a whole will significantly enhance overall performance."

One of the reasons why the product is quickly becoming known as the best hydration backpack around, is because it also comes with an additional storage pocket. This means that athletes can also bring other important items with them, such as nutritional bars. Simon Ellicott explains: "A good outdoor pursuit requires both hydration and nutrition and our pack can offer both. With our pack on your back, you can go further and for longer, pushing yourself to new limits, because you know that you will always have enough water and food with you."

People are encouraged to check out the Amazon listing for further information on the new hydration backpack.
