

Huggabe Says Better Branch Marshmallow Roasting Sticks Are Finally Back In Stock

July 01, 2015

July 01, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cate Lillig, who is the spokesperson for the company, Huggabe, has announced that they have restocked their line of Better Branch Marshmallow Roasting Sticks, so customers are once again able to buy them on Amazon. Each pack comes with a set of 4 marshmallow roasting sticks.

This is good news for many people who are about to go on their camping trips, as most agree that roasting marshmallows is an important activity in these events. Each Better Branch Marshmallow Roasting Stick is made from stainless steel and has a wooden handle. The stick is able to telescope out, up to 28 inches, and on the end is a 2 prong fork that can securely hold any marshmallow while it is roasting in the fire. The company said that their 2 prong fork can also retract, so when placing it back into the product's pouch, they can feel confident knowing that the forks won't poke and damage the bags. Currently, all the reviews posted on their Amazon storefront are positive. An example of this can be seen in the following review written by a customer that bought the product,

"This is by far the best marshmallow roasting sticks available....they're great quality, include their own little pouches, and I love how they're stored. We go kayak-camping, so having these be able to fold down and take up barely any space, and without having the fork prongs sticking out is huge. Other versions still have the "Y" exposed and can puncture other stuff while we're kayaking on the water. These fix that problem by storing inside itself. Very sturdy and also made a great gift for my sister and brother-in-law, they loved them! "

Cate stated that while they are happy that their better Branch Marshmallow Roasting Sticks are once again in stock, customers need to act quickly, as they tend to fly fast off the shelf during the summer season.

Huggabe stated that when they designed their marshmallow roasting sticks, safety and comfort were two priorities that they focused on. The wooden handle is thick enough to be comfortable while still keeping hands cool, and the 28 inches long telescoping rod helps to keep people at a safe distance from the fire. The company added that their marshmallow roasting sticks also contain a water resistant carrying case. Another customer made the following statement in their review,

"These are GREAT!! I've been looking for extendable forks for campfire weenie and marshmallow roasts and they were either too long to store easily, flimsy, or ridiculously over-priced for what you bought. These are perfect. They extend to 28", clean easily, and slide back into the wooden handles, which don't get hot when you are roasting your marshmallows to a golden brown. You get 4. Great value. BUY THEM!!"

Cate Lillig said that all interested parties will be able to view more detailed information of their marshmallow roasting sticks by visiting their website, which can be found at the following URL: <http://huggabe.com/products/marshmallow-roasting-sticks-4pk/> The company also encourages those who are interested in buying the product to go to their Amazon storefront or their main web page at www.huggabe.com.

###

For more information about Huggabe, contact the company here: HuggabeCateLillig6082084257pr@huggabe.com 801 N. Federal St Chandler, AZ, 85226

Huggabe

Huggabe is dedicated to providing high quality casual adventure gear. We strive to create unique designs, and fun products... because everyone's idea of adventure is different.

Website: <http://www.Huggabe.com>

Email: pr@huggabe.com

Phone: 6082084257

