December 11, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Fort Lauderdale, FL is home to Ashley Bridget, a business known for their fashionable, practical, and unique bracelets. They are particularly well-known for their hair tie bracelets, which come in a range of different styles and designs. The company is now proud to announce that these bracelets have recently received an influx of positive reviews.

"With Christmas only just around the corner, it seems that our bracelets are once again becoming a best selling gift item," says spokesperson Scott Hutchison. "We're very happy to see that people still love these bracelets so much, and that they continue to be a gift of choice. We're overjoyed at the fact that so many women and girls are enjoying our products and taking the time to tell us about this."

In the reviews, people have discussed how beautiful the bracelets are, and how they match any style. What people are particularly impressed with, however, is the simplistic innovation that the product brings. "This is another product that I have to say ?Why didn't I think of this.? This bracelet is such a clever way to carry hair bands. I bought this one for my daughter (age 9)...," says an Amazon customer.

The company offers a number of different bangle bracelets as well. There are four different inspirational bangles available, and they can be stacked for added effect. Scott Hutchison adds: "Our Angel Collection is designed to give people a little pick-me-up. They come with four different messages, Divine, Faith, Guardian, and Heavenly. Essentially, we hope that people who wear our bracelets feel good about themselves. This is particularly important over the Christmas season."

Like the hair tie bracelets, the bangle bracelets have proven to be very popular. Many people have purchased the bracelets as gifts, creating something and thoughtful to put under the Christmas tree. "Beautiful high quality. Bought three... 2 to give as gifts and one to keep..." says an Amazon customer.

People are encouraged to take a look at the full Ashley Bridget collection, particularly if they are still looking for gifts for their loved ones for the holiday season. Each bracelet has already become a best selling item on Amazon.
