Nicole Lane, spokesperson for the company Camera LEGZ, announced that they have just released their Camera LEGZ 10" Flexible Camera Tripod, which is now available to buy on Amazon. Ms. Lane said that they chose Amazon as their fulfillment provider because of the fast service they provide to customers.

The LEGZ 10" Flexible Camera Tripod has been designed with a quick attach and release feature in order to create a great user experience for the photographer/picture enthusiast, and it also comes with a lock ring to create a secure hold. In order to make the tripod easy to adjust, a ball joint has been incorporated onto the head of the product.

Ms. Lane said that their tripods come with a Universal smartphone attachment, perfect for almost all phones, and universal 1/4 screw included, and that they have taken every measure to make this product extremely durable. Currently, there are 6 positive reviews posted by customers on Amazon. In one of the reviews, a customer made the following statement:

"Used this product with my compact video camera for my kids' recitals and concerts. I was able to attach the tripod to a church pew and theatre-type seats; which was great, as a regular-size tripod would have been difficult to use. Very versatile product and worked as advertised. Great size and light weight; perfect for throwing in a backpack or purse. The iPhone attachment is a lot of fun and easy to use; probably one of my favorite features."

Camera LEGZ stated that when they designed their 10 inch flexible camera tripod, practicality and being secure was one of the main priorities that they focused on. A photographer needs to be able to pull out the tripod, on-the-fly, and have it easily set up to get that perfect picture, no matter where they go. To achieve this, the company has designed their camera tripod to be very flexible, yet firm. This is achieved by incorporating rubber rings and feet so that it creates a nonslip grip. The joints have a 360 degree turning capability, and the product is compact and lightweight. Another customer wrote the following review on Amazon:

"I love this tripod! Especially with my Gopro, you can wrap the Legz around tree limbs, door knobs, and pretty much anything you can think of. It also works great with my Sony Handicam, Kodak still capture camera, and anything that uses the universal tripod screw. It also comes with a strong spring loaded attachment that hugs your phone tightly so you can put your phone or anything else on it. It is quite sturdy, yet flexible. It has good gripping rubber feet, which makes it useful for setting on un-even ground..."

Camera LEGZ stated that they are confident customers will love their latest product, but in the rare case that a customer might not be happy with the product, the company is also offering a 30 day, no hassle, money-back guarantee.
