

Window Repairs: New Service In Edmonton

December 20, 2017

December 20, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Kryocon, a business in Edmonton, AB, is proud to announce the launch of a brand new service. This includes everything to do with windows, from removing and repairing windows and glass, to full house replacements. In so doing, the company has set itself apart as the only window repair company in the area that truly offers a full service.

Kelly Kramer from Kryocon says: "Most renovation companies do not get into this type of service. However, we thought that with the increased awareness of the need for efficient energy use, it was time to move in this direction."

Window replacement is just one of the many services that the company offers. Because the company often works on home renovations, it is common for them to have to replace the windows in the bathroom or kitchen. In other situations, Kryocon replaces every window in a home to make it more efficient and help homeowners lower their energy costs. Kelly Kramer adds: "A new triple pane window with proper installation will seal up your house significantly. Depending on how many windows and how many other areas of your home require sealing the payback could be around 5 years."

One of the key elements of the full service that truly sets this company apart, is that of window wells. Kryocon always stays up to date with new government regulations and there have been some significant changes on how these rules apply to window wells. Specifically, there is now a requirement to increase the distance between the window and the well's outer most area. This is done to ensure that anyone using a basement as a sleeping or living area is able to escape in case of a fire, flood, or other dangerous situation. Different widths are required if the window is in a location other than the basement.

Kryocon strives to provide excellent service at all times. With several decades of experience in the window and carpentry industry, they have become the go to source for all things about window repair and replacement. Homeowners are encouraged to contact the team as soon as possible to find out what can be done for them.
