Klug Law Office, a business tax attorney services firm in Washington, DC, is proud to announce that they are expanding. They have done so by welcoming two new members of staff: Gina Lee and Carmen Navarro. Gina Lee will be the firm's new law clerk while Carmen Navarro will be the new administrative assistant.

Christopher Klug, owner and founder of Klug Law Office, says: "We are very happy to welcome our two newest members of staff. They bring with them a wealth of experience and skills that our company can benefit from and we hope that they feel at home with their new team."

Gina Lee came to the business tax attorney Washington DC office from a boutique tax law firm. Prior to that, she volunteered for the IRS, helping low income families complete their tax returns. She also worked in marketing for the financial sector before obtaining her law degree. She obtained her JD in May 2017, and she has been focused on applying her knowledge ever since.

Carmen Navarro, meanwhile, is a highly experienced bilingual professional with a master of arts in sociology. She has focused strongly on the environment and on political issues throughout her professional and academic career. She aspires to eventually become a paralegal and enrolled agent for Klug Law Office, and is therefore strongly committed to being the best she can be and learning about every aspect of the organization.

"Our business is to make sure domestic and international taxation issues are handled properly," adds Chris Klug. "We focus on international taxation, trust and estate administration, tax planning and tax controversy, estate planning, corporate and business planning, and cross-border transactions. We believe that both Gina Lee and Carmen Navarro will be excellent additions to our team and we look forward to many years of working with them."

The international tax attorney has focused on hiring only the most talented individuals as part of the team. Both Gina Lee and Carmen Navarro have already started making a name for themselves in the world of business and politics, and they both already feel completely at home with their new employer.
