San Diego, CA - A San Diego personal injury attorney recently explained what steps one should take after being the victim of a hit-and-run accident. Mr. Geruntino explains that there are several reasons a hit-and-run can take place, the driver could be under the influence, the driver may lack insurance or simply not want to face the consequences, the driver may be driving illegally, or he or she may simply want to avoid contact with law enforcement.

The recent post presents seven important things to do after the accident. This includes parking the car somewhere safe, calling 911 to summon the police, seeking out witnesses, recording any information immediately, and more. Mr. Geruntino explains that auto accidents can be disorienting and hit-and-run accidents often leave a victim even more confused.

Brett Geruntino claims he regularly uses his blog at www.acclaimlaw.com to cover topics, such as hit-and-run accidents, that he feels are important to prospective clients and the public in general and hopes that by informing the public he will eventually have clients who are more aware of what they need and what to expect when they come to Acclaim Law Group.
