Cruvina, providers of shatterproof plastic glasses, announces that their stemless wine glasses are odor-resistant.

One aspect of enjoying a good glass of wine is savoring its bouquet, or aroma. Every wine has a different bouquet, depending on the type of grape, the wine making process, and the amount of time it has aged in the bottle. To be able to enjoy a wine's bouquet, it must be served in a glass that doesn't hold odors from any drink that was previously served in it. Traditionally this would have been a crystal lead glass or regular glass.

"Serving wine in reusable plastic glasses has become more popular," says Cruvina Co-Founder Erin Moore. "These glasses are economical and safe. But some of these glasses are made out of a low-quality plastic. Over time, these glasses can develop an odor that masks the bouquet of the wine you are serving in them. When we developed our reusable wine glasses, we researched the highest-quality plastic and found Tritan. Tritan plastic has so many good quality, one of which is that it is odor-resistant."

Tritan plastic is a high-quality, food-grade, BPA-free polymer made by Eastman. This plastic was specially developed to be scratch-resistant. As a result, no particles get trapped in scratch grooves. So no bacteria grows. This is important because it is the bacteria that causes the odor. With gentle washing, Tritan plastic glasses can be used repeatedly to serve a variety of different kinds of wines. Each time only the bouquet of the wine in the glass will be present.

The wine glasses retain their clarity and shine through repeated use and can stand up to being washed in the top rack of the dishwasher. Guests may mistake the plastic wine glasses for real glass. The glasses are also designed with anti-tipping technology and a comfort spill-guard rim, so the risk of party mishaps or broken glass is reduced. This allows for stress-free entertaining in any setting, from a formal wedding to an outdoor concert.

The Cruvina Wine Glass Set consists of four 13-ounce stemless wine glasses. It is available on Amazon for $24.97 and comes with a 30-day money-back guarantee.
