When a fire happens, property owners are left devastated and often in shock. Versatile Restoration Pros, a business based in Minneapolis, MN, has now launched a fire damage restoration service in an effort to reduce at least some of the stress that affected people are likely to experience after a fire. Smoke removal is just one part of what the company offers, as their goal is to leave a home completely clean again.

Jeff Mork from Versatile Services says: "After a fire, people are often left bewildered about the next steps to take. They may feel that they can clean up themselves, but it's a lengthy, tiring process unless you have help from professionals with the right tools to perform remediation services and ultimately salvage as much as possible of your home and belongings. We recommend calling in professionals like <https://versatilerestorationpros.com> to make this part of the recovery process easier to manage, while at the same time ensuring that it is done properly."

Versatile Restoration Pros offers a wealth of services that can help property owners following a fire or other types of disaster. For instance, they are also known as the local remediation specialists. These are important skills after a flood, caused either by natural phenomena or by things such as a burst water mains, but it is an equally important service after a fire. As the fire department uses water to stop a fire from spreading, water damage can be as significant as fire damage.

"We can help in all types of different emergency and damage scenarios," explains Jeff Mork. "Our staff specializes in water, fire, sewage, mold, and storm damage. We are available 24/7 and are there to make sure that you can concentrate on recovering the truly important things like getting your health and life back in order."

The company is quickly setting itself apart as the best of its kind in Minneapolis. They are committed to delivering a fast, professional, and affordable service in all types of emergency situations. People are encouraged to contact them as soon as possible after they have experienced an emergency to get the ball rolling.
