February 05, 2018 -

Panama City, FL ? When it comes to winter storms, Florida is not familiar with them. Disaster Response Team is a leading Panama City damage restoration company that is designed to help people when the unexpected happens. To keep the public informed on winter safety, the company wants to share some safety producers.

The company advises to never panic when disaster strikes, as it is important to remain calm and relaxed so matters don?t get worse. This season has showed weather conditions that Florida has not seen in years, and with their 24/7 service Disaster Response Team will be there to help through it no matter what time it is. Recently, the team has released a set of valuable tips to help people stay calm and prepared.

Disaster Response Team owner Mark Broersma said, ?It is in our best interest to keep locals safe during these harsh winter weather conditions. The more information they know, the less they will fear.?

In order to stay calm and collective during these storms, the Panama City emergency response team suggests that everyone stays informed and educated on cold weather conditions. They advise to always maintain heaters and fireplaces, and monitor & unplug all electrical outlets to avoid unexpected fires. When stepping out of your house, Disaster Response Team advises everyone to dress in warm layers and wash hands often to avoid winter-related illness. These tips and more will help everybody during the cold weather.

?So far 2018 has been off to a great start,? Broersma said. ?We want to make sure it stays great by constantly helping the people in our community and keeping safety methods everyone's number one priority.?
