Northport, WA company Record Peak Designs Inc. is known for its smartphone accessories. The company has now announced the release of the large Claw tripod, which has been found by many to be the perfect travel companion. Designed to be capable of holding up any gadget with a weight of up to two pounds (900 grams), it is the perfect accessory for amateur and professional photographers alike especially when they travel because it is easily packed, it can hold any device, and has Bluetooth remote control.

"Our large claw tripod, which we have trademarked, is needed by everybody who travels and likes to document their experiences," says Robert McClelland, spokesperson for Record Peak Designs Inc. "It can be attached to just about anything and anywhere, and since it comes with an easy to use remote control, it can be used for all sorts of photography situations, from fun selfies to group photos to time lapse videos."

The large claw tripod has been designed to hold any device, including smartphones, GoPros, tablets, and cameras. It is an instant tripod that is highly flexible and can simply be latched on to anything. Because of its flexible legs and lightweight construction, it can also be packed in just about anything, making it perfect for traveling. The aforementioned remote control is Bluetooth enabled, which means pictures can be taken from a significant distance. Those interested in getting more information about the tripod are encouraged to visit the Record Peak website for further information.

Robert McClelland explains: "The Claw is able to hold cameras and devices in both portrait and landscape mode, so you can really take a wealth of different photographs in all sorts of different styles. We love to see what you have been able to come up with, so do send us through your pictures please."

Other Record Peak products are also available. They can be found through the store's Amazon shop and include two different tripods, tempered glass screen protectors for iPhone 5 SE and 6/6S, as well as a remote shutter, compatible with iOS devices. All products are part of the Claw line, which is a unique, trademarked line that offers nothing but benefits to the cellphone user and photographer. Robert McClelland says: "Do visit our website to see what is possible with our products. If you love photography, you will love Claw."
