

Options Trading Strategies Made Easy In 47 Course Educational Package

June 26, 2015

June 26, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

OptionTiger, a business based out of Bethesda, MD, has announced that their 47 course, options trading strategy program stands apart from competitor education packages. The program offers more than one hundred hours of practical hands on learning through detailed, step-by-step Options trading courseware. The company has suggested that getting this form of education is definitely a requirement of finding success in the Options market, but that there is more to it than most traders think. Options Tiger explains: "This is because all Options trading strategies require a deep understanding of the market environment that Options strategy is most likely to succeed in. OptionTiger has created eight proprietary trading strategies based on the type of strategy or the trading style that best works for that market environment."

The systems are described as Options strategies that work, and are geared toward specific systems, such as those traders who prefer using debit and credit spreads in comparison to those trading Iron condors or Swing trades. Due to the differences in trader preferences, Option Tiger has created a customized strategy training guide which supplies customized bundles depending on what clients wish to learn and master. The founder of Options Tiger, Hari Swaminathan, has been open in the fact that this is a far more cost effective way for traders to learn what they need to know rather than everything there is to know about trading. The company explains: "If you already trade Options, you know that the biggest problem facing Options traders is "consistency". Whether you trade Debit spreads, Credit spreads, Iron condors, Weekly Options, Straddles and Strangles or ETF Options, taking a systematic approach to trade entry, trade management, adjustments, and risk management is the key to success."

Currently Option Tiger is allowing interested individuals to take advantage of a free consultation, which will take place over the phone. There is no obligation associated with this consultation, and potential clients can use this offer anytime throughout June or July in an effort to decide whether or not this type of educational option is right for them. The company says "Options are a skill for life, but they have a learning curve. There are many pieces to it, and reaching expert level in trading Spreads is critical. Once you have mastered Option spreads, you have acquired powerful knowledge and an income-generating skill that will last lifetime. This is because Options have a mathematical base, and that mathematics will never change. Achieving a consistent monthly income is possible regardless of which way the markets move."

The company is also promoting other available courses through their website. Here, over 40 Free courses from OptionTiger on trading, markets, and more can be viewed and used to gain a foundational knowledge base before continuing on to try more advanced courses. Option Tiger invites those interested in learning more about their courses to visit their site and contact them for a free introductory course. The programs run in levels of beginner, intermediate and advanced, and the site describes all the advanced proprietary trading systems in detail.

###

For more information about www.OptionTiger.com, contact the company here: www.OptionTiger.com Hari Swaminathan 3017607658 hswami@gmail.com Bethesda, MD 20817 USA

www.OptionTiger.com

OptionTiger.com is a leading Options education, and Options strategies and mentoring company based in the Washington D.C area. OptionTiger aims to provide an "edge" on every trade through elite intellectual property.

Website: <http://optiontiger.com/>

Email: hswami@gmail.com

Phone: 3017607658

The logo for OptionTiger, featuring the word "OPTION" in dark blue and "TIGER" in a lighter blue with a tiger-stripe pattern.

