Cruvina, providers of shatterproof plastic glassware, announces that their cocktail glasses are safe to be used around pets.

Erin Moore, Co-Founder of Cruvina, shares: "We love our dogs. They are part of the family and I couldn't imagine our family gatherings without them. They spread such joy. But sometimes their tails can push over glasses left standing on the coffee table, breaking them and creating a mess. We know that other families have had similar experiences, so we wanted to provide them with plastic drinkware that was not only beautiful, but safe."

Cruvina cocktail tumblers meet both of those requirements. They are made from Tritan plastic by Eastman. This plastic has been molded into a beautiful shape that fits nicely into the hand. It is crystal clear and looks like "real" glass. And just like "real" glass, these plastic glasses are both scratch-resistant and odor-resistant. Also, the glasses have a solid base so that they sit firmly on any hard surface. And they have a comfortable, spill-proof rim. With all of these features, the cocktail glasses provide an aesthetic wine drinking experience.

And since Tritan plastic is virtually shatterproof, the glasses are safe to use as well. Even if they do fall, they won't break. So there is no worry about a beloved pet getting accidentally cut on shards of broken glass.

Customers have been very pleased with this aspect of the glasses. Here is what one had to say: "These glasses were the perfect gift for my husband. He loves the durability of the plastic and how safe they are in our home full of kids and dogs. They really are great quality and have stood up through the dishwasher several times. The thick bottom base also gives the right look for a cocktail/whiskey glass. 5 stars for sure and we will definitely be purchasing more."

Each box comes with four 14-ounce glasses. Cruvina cocktail tumblers are available on Amazon and come with a 30-day money-back guarantee.
