February 20, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

OneTeacher has announced that they will have a virtual booth at the 2018 Education Week's TopSchoolJobs Online Job Fair and Expo. This year's event that is targeted towards teachers will take place on March 1, 2018, from 10am until 6pm EST. The event offers a fantastic networking opportunity for job seekers in particular.

Erin Tobin from OneTeacher says: "We're so happy to be attending this year's expo. It is a chance for job seekers to engage with us recruiters, without the commitment of a formal interview and lengthy application. It's simply a chance to get to know each other."

OneTeacher will have a virtual booth during the online job fair for teachers. On March 1st, candidates will be able to check the booth out and learn more about the company. They can also participate in mini-interviews via chat, submit their resume, and more.

During the event, OneTeacher will also have a list of available positions. Erin Tobin adds: "OneTeacher provides a "one-stop-shop" application for over 30 achievement-focused, Title I schools in Arizona. When teachers apply for a position through OneTeacher, not only are they considered for all of our current openings, but they're also kept on file for future roles as well if no current match is available. The staff at OneTeacher is adept at not only connecting teachers to a position they're qualified for, but one that they're likely to be truly well-matched with."

It takes just two minutes to register for the online job fair, and doing so is completely free for educators. Attending the virtual event will provide candidates with access to many different teaching jobs, as well as 1-on-1 chats with recruiters. It is mainly a networking event, in which stress is reduced as much as possible. Furthermore, because it is an online event, people can attend from the comfort of their own home to find out if there are any open positions that they would like to apply for.
